Step 8 Analysis

The plots from steps 3 and 6 did not change enough to let me select different values for K.

Normalization is used to scale data to be in the same range so that each dimension should be able to exert equal influence. Because the ranges for columns 2 to 8 of original data do not vary too much, there is not too much influence on the plots after normalization.